

Chinese company to Export mushrooms to Israel

10 November 2022 | News

The company will export the Shiitake mushrooms and black fungus to Israel.

The company will export the Shiitake mushrooms and black fungus to Israel.

Farmmi, Inc. an agricultural products supplier in China, announced the receipt of a high-volume order for its popular dried Shiitake mushrooms and black fungus. The company will export the Shiitake mushrooms and black fungus to Israel.

Yefang Zhang, Farmmi's Chairwoman and CEO, commented "Israel continues to lead as one of the largest global health and wellness foods markets. With more of the population aware of the direct relationship between what we consume and our health, Farmmi is well positioned as an attractive supplier well-positioned on for high-quality agriculture products gives us a competitive advantage, which we continue to leverage in our drive to increase profitable sales."

Farmmi, Inc. established in 1998, Farmmi Inc is an agricultural products supplier, processor and retailer of edible mushrooms like Shiitake and Mu Er, as well as other agricultural products. In addition to its offline sales, Farmmi sells its products direct-to-consumer.