The Houston facility provided formulation and automated packaging capability for herbicide products and was newly built in 2022 by Apex Ag Chem. Led by a very talented team, this modern and highly efficient operation has proven to safely deliver impressive levels of quality and reliability since its introduction.

"We are excited to demonstrate Rainbow's strategic ambition to deliver supply chain solutions to our customer partners," said Tom Lyons, General Manager, Rainbow North America, "the operations and team in Houston represent Rainbow's first step towards building an efficient manufacturing and supply chain platform in North America."
