Tanmiah Food Company (Tanmiah), a leading vertically integrated poultry and food producer in Saudi Arabia, has inaugurated two new facilities in the central region of the Kingdom. The launch, held under the patronage of His Excellency Eng. Abdulrahman Abdulmohsen AlFadley, Minister of Environment, Water and Agriculture, includes a state-of-the-art poultry processing plant in Al Majmaa (Majmaa 2) and a cutting-edge feed mill in Dahna. These additions strengthen Tanmiah's extensive network of hatcheries, feed mills, and processing plants, underscoring the company's dedication to advancing food security, operational efficiency, and community development.

The new facilities represent a strategic investment in Saudi Arabia's agri-food sector, enabling Tanmiah to optimize production and deliver higher-quality products at scale. With Saudi Arabia's poultry projected to grow from USD 5.13 billion in 2025 to nearly USD 6.91 billion by 2030, Tanmiah's capacity expansion is set to play a vital role in meeting rising demand and enabling Vision 2030's food security objectives.

The official inauguration ceremony was held at the Ministry of Environment, Water and Agriculture (MEWA) in Riyadh, in the presence of His Excellency Eng. Abdulrahman Abdulmohsen AlFadley, Minister of Environment, Water and Agriculture, along with esteemed dignitaries and distinguished guests, and was attended by His Excellency Amr Al-Dabbagh, Chairman of Tanmiah, Mr. Zulfiqar Hamadani, Group CEO, and a number of Tanmiah's Board Members and senior executives.

Majmaa 2 is one of Tanmiah's most advanced sites. Built to international standards, it integrates the latest technology to optimize manufacturing and features advanced processing lines capable of handling large birds – a first of its kind in the Kingdom. It is equipped with a biological wastewater treatment system with a capacity of more than 6,000 cubic meters per day, recycling treated water for Tanmiah's tree plantations. Quality systems and plans are in place to power the site with renewable energy solutions, including solar panels. Majmaa 2 reinforces Tanmiah's competitive edge and strengthens partnerships with leading global QSR brands, including McDonald's Saudi Arabia.

In pursuit of its vision to become the number one global halal sustainable healthy protein company by 2030, over the past two years, Tanmiah has invested over SAR 1.5 billion within the Kingdom, while also facilitating more than SAR 400 million in foreign direct investment into the agri-food sector, with the aim of increasing the pace of private investments in this sector through 2030. These efforts have strengthened Saudi Arabia's role as a regional powerhouse in food production and a vibrant hub for innovation, research, and product development across the industry.
