Extends its knowledge and experience to the animal kingdom through Shwan Ayurvedic science

Bioved Pharmaceuticals, Inc. has launched its scientifically validated Natural Animal Health products from the science of Ayurveda.

Bioved is a discovery platform for safe and effective plant-based nutraceuticals, dietary supplements and OTC products for human health, that have undergone extensive pre-clinical and clinical testing for difficult to treat disorders. Over three continents, its products are sold in several countries. Bioved is extending its knowledge and experience to the animal kingdom, under the science of Shwan (Dog) Ayurvedic science.

A line of products in the form of natural and tasty chews are developed for dogs initially. The line includes Anitrex® for bone and joint health, Anilean® for weight management, Ammunex® for boosting immunity and Anilive® for liver health. In addition, we have stability and palatability studies with the animal chews going forward," said Dr Deben Dey, Chief Scientific Officer of Bioved.

Each of these have a multitude of studies and peer-reviewed scientific publications for use in humans. Products are proven to be free from residual solvents, pesticides, bacterial contamination and heavy metals.

Bioved claims that the herbs or plants used in the animal products are extracted with a Bioved US patented method, and standardized and validated by modern biotechnology. Bioved is headquartered in San Jose, California, USA with subsidiaries in Pune, India and Hanoi, Vietnam.
