

China prioritizes agriculture, fishery cooperation with Pacific island countries

11 May 2023 | News

China focuses on Agricultural and fisheries cooperation, economic and trade collaboration, increasing multilateral coordination, and improving livelihoods

China focuses on Agricultural and fisheries cooperation, economic and trade collaboration, increasing multilateral coordination, and improving livelihoods

China is all set to expand deepen practical cooperation with Pacific island countries in agriculture and fishery to make new contributions to building an even closer community with a shared future between China and Pacific island countries. A opening ceremony of the China-Pacific island countries agriculture and fishery ministers was held in Nanjing.

Agricultural and fisheries cooperation, economic and trade collaboration, increasing multilateral coordination, and improving livelihoods are all areas where China stands ready to deepen practical cooperation with Pacific island countries.

Chinese Vice Premier Liu Guozhong said "under the strategic guidance of leaders of the two sides, China and Pacific island countries have achieved fruitful results in agriculture and fishery cooperation. This meeting is of great significance for the two sides to ensure food security, strengthen marine protection and sustainable use, and accelerate agricultural modernization".

Using agriculture and fishery cooperation to build an even closer community with a shared future between China and Pacific island countries, China hopes to push cooperation to new heights.